

Abstract

The invention relates to a porous film for use in an electronic device, uses of such a porous film, a method of producing a porous film and a porous film produced by said method.